

Murder accused flees from cops

[NT Bureau]

Chennai, Feb 14:

A rowdy accused in a murder case in 2016 escaped from police custody at Perungalathur GST Road on Wednesday.

According to sources, the accused Ganesh alias 'Thondhi' Ganesh (26), a native of Rajapalayam worked as a lorry driver in the Korukkupet a few years ago. In 2016, he was arrested for the murder of a woman identified as Lakshmi. Subsequently, he was lodged in Madurai Central Prison.

On Wednesday, he was brought to the Mahila court on Madras High Court campus. By evening, after the proceedings got over, the policemen decided to take him back to Madurai prison by bus. When the bus reached Perungalathur GST Road, Ganesh escaped.

Peerankaranai police have launched a search for him.

[BHAVANI PRABHAKAR]

Chennai, Feb 14:

Chennai has the highest number of childhood cancer incidence in Tamilnadu and also in south of India. Across India, the city ranks second, only next to New Delhi.

This distressing bit of information was provided by Adyar Cancer Institute tumour registry head, R Swaminathan. Speaking to News Today on World Childhood Cancer Day that is observed 15 February, he said, 'On an average, every year, the city witnesses around 250 new cases of cancer and in Tamilnadu the number comes up to 3,500 children. Blood cancer, in medical terms called leukemia, is common across the world and in children among the sub types, acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL) sees severe spike in children.'

The other common types in the State include lymphomas, brain, eye, kidney and bone cancers. While 60 per cent of tumour in children is constituted by ALL, the rest 40 per cent would be the other kinds, he explained.

Explaining about the high incidence of ALL, Swaminathan stated, 'For every one lakh population, 14 children are diagnosed with leukemia in metropolitan cities and eight for one lakh people in the rural areas of the country. Going State-wise, of the total count, 300 cases can be children with blood cancer.'

However, he attributes the rising number of cases in cities to the availability of instruments for cancer diagnosis and lack of not well-developed facilities in tier-2 and tier-3 cities.

Speaking about the condition, Cancer Institute assistant profes-

TACKLING FEAR

In addition to chemotherapy, the facility provides chemoport for children who fear to undergo the traditional procedure due to pain.

On it, ICH's Pediatric Oncologist, Dr Aruna, said, 'For administering chemotherapy, it has to be done through the veins; however, children are afraid of syringes as they have to undergo the procedure often. In the other method, it is surgically implanted which makes it easier for the patients to cope with the treatment.'

The facility was inaugurated 2018 and currently 20-25 children are under chemoport treatment.

Dr Venkat Radhakrishnan, said, 'The reason remains unknown which hampers prevention. All over the world, healthcare experts are researching to identify the cause. At present, the country is just equipped to diagnose and offer treatment. Children with blood cancer are put under chemotherapy for three years.'

About awareness in the city, he stated that it differs. 'There are a few who come forward in the beginning stage and there are also patients who try out alternative medicines and consult oncologists during the later stages. Assessment is difficult, but there is certainly delay,' pointed out the doctor.

The doctor stated that blood cancer exhibits generic symptoms that make it difficult to identify, and added, 'Prolonged fever, anaemia, bleeding from gums and enlargement of lymph nodes are a few of the signs of blood cancer.'

Speaking about the cases in Egmore Institute of Child Health (ICH) and Hospital for Children, director, Dr A T Arasar Seeralar, said, 'In 2018, the hospital had about 120 ALL and 35 acute myeloid leukemia (AML) patients. The survival of ALL was about 30-40 per cent, for AML immediate survival was about 50 per cent. However, a majority of the patients entered relapse within a year or two.'

Oncologists state that ALL is totally curable if the patient is brought at the right time to the right centre as there are eight to 10 well-equipped regional cancer centres in Tamilnadu.

TNEB engineer caught in DVAC trap

[NT Bureau]

Chennai, Feb 14:

Officials of Directorate of Vigilance and Anti-Corruption (DVAC) arrested an Assistant Executive Engineer of Tamilnadu Electricity board and one more person this morning on charges of accepting a bribe of Rs 1 lakh for giving commercial electricity connection.

Based on the complaint from a sub-contractor of a builder, Thillairaj, the DVAC laid a trap and caught them red handed. They have been identified as Assistant Engineer Jose Alwyn and other person Murugaselvam. The officials also conducted a search at the engineer's Virugambakkam residence.

The complainant alleged that Murugaselvam demanded Rs 2.50 lakh excluding the government fee of total Rs 42,000 to provide six new three-phase electrical connections for a newly constructed commercial building in Esplanade. The official demanded the money as an advance before submitting the applications. The duo were produced before a special Judge.

CBSE Class 12 exams from tomorrow

New Delhi, Feb 14 (PTI):

Let your mind's 'web browser' be 'loose', 'download' competencies and life skills, 'firewall' all distractions while concentrating on studies and treat exams as URLs of your lives, is the message CBSE Chairman Anita Karwal has for students ahead of board exams.

The CBSE Class 12 exams are beginning on Friday and will conclude on 3 April, while Class 10 exams will begin on 21 February and end on 29 March. Seeking to connect with students in the tech lingo they are so familiar with, the CBSE chief said, 'Face your books and 'insta' your studies and let the hashtag 'studentunstoppable' trend'.

SC delivers split verdict on control of services in Delhi

New Delhi, Feb 14:

A Supreme Court bench comprising justices AK Sikri and Ashok Bhushan today differed on who would have the power to post and transfer bureaucrats, the Anti-Corruption Bureau and appointment of inquiry commissions etc in Delhi. The two top judges of the top court - Justice AK Sikri and Justice Ashok Bhushan - gave a split verdict on the jurisdiction of Centre or Delhi government over appointment and transfer of bureaucrats in Delhi.

One of the two top judges dealing with the issue said that the Delhi government has all powers, except on matters related to land and policing.

Justice AK Sikri held that transfers or posting of Joint Secretary and officers of above rank are in the domain of the LG while other officers fall under Delhi Government. However, in case of difference of opinion, the view of Delhi LG will prevail. The Anti Corruption Bureau will come under the LG, Justice Sikri said in his order.

Another fire mishap in Delhi

New Delhi, Feb 14:

A fire broke out at Archies greeting card factory in the Naraina Industrial area in west Delhi today at around 7:15 am.

According to the fire department, the blaze spread rapidly to the top floors.
