

Growth + stability = NaMo

◆ Industry reacts to Modi's second term as PM

| NT Bureau |
Chennai, May 24:

Lok Sabha polls saw Narendra Modi-led Bharatiya Janata Party sweep victory by handing a crushing defeat to the opposition. No sooner had the results been announced, wishes from the industry for the re-elect flooded in.

'News Today' compiles the list of what top heads had to say upon witnessing the results of the polls.'

'Our nation's biggest strength is its democratic fundamentals and the prudence illustrated by the electorate augurs well for India. Moving into the next level of development requires focus on large scale infrastructure growth, reskilling of the workforce and deeper penetration of technology,' said chairman, Adani Group, Gautam Adani.

Tata Sons chairman, N Chandrasekaran, said the resounding victory of the BJP-led alliance is a result of the nation's trust in Prime Minister Modi and his leadership and an endorsement of reforms and huge changes underway that will bring growth, jobs and a better quality of life for all citizens.

Growth is the mandate

Anil Agarwal, the chairman of Vedanta Resources said the government will now re-ignite its reforms agenda to push growth, tackle critical issues like creating more jobs, usher in more tax friendly laws and strengthen India's position in global trade.

Executive chairman, Apollo Hospitals Group, Dr Prathap C Reddy, said the clear majority should give the government the fuel it needs to continue on the path of fiscal transformation. 'My congratulations to the NDA led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, on winning the people's mandate for a second term in a row. The vote has clearly been for stability in the government and a stable forward looking policy should help bring in a renewed momentum leading to inclusive growth and development,' he added.

'People of the world's largest democracy have given their mandate to the government for another term. After half a decade, we now have a glimpse of a 'New India' that the government envisioned for us when it came to power in 2014. While we witnessed the implementation of key reforms during the first NDA regime, strengthening of the overall economy is what is expected with the continuance of those reforms. Looking back, we realise that the two words that perhaps rightly sum up the contribution of the government are continuity and stability,' said CEO and country head, JLL India, Ramesh Nair.

From auto sector

Maruti Suzuki India, chairman, R C Bhargava, in his wishes said, 'Modi initiated many reforms but the work could not be completed as it involved making mindset and behavior changes and legal enactments and other steps faced political difficulties. The voter has now exhibited full confidence in what Modi was doing and has given him an overwhelming mandate to proceed further.'

'Size of the country (land mass+population) X size of the economy X size of the election mandate = leader's power quotient. By the measure of this crude formula, @narendramodi is about to become the most powerful, democratically elected leader in the world today,' chairman, Mahindra Group, Anand Mahindra tweeted.

MUSK'S MARTIAN PLAN

◆ SpaceX launches satellites for Starlink Internet service ◆ Firm to launch a total of 60 payloads, to set base on Mars, moon

| Agency |

Chennai, May 24:

Technology entrepreneur Elon Musk's SpaceX company, according to reports, is on its way to successfully place the first batch of five dozen small satellites into low-Earth orbit for his new Starlink Internet service.

Launched from Florida on Thursday, the Falcon 9 rocket finally took off a week after two back-to-back countdowns for the mission were scrubbed.

The project, aimed at generating cash for Musk's larger ambitions in space blasted off from Cape Canaveral Air Force Station at about 02:30 GMT Friday.

The Falcon 9 was due to release its cargo of 60 satellites into orbit about an hour after its launch. Each one weighs 500 pounds (227 kg), making it the heaviest payload for any SpaceX rocket to date.

Those satellites are designed to form the initial phase a planned constellation capable of beaming signals for high-speed internet service from space to paying customers around the globe.

Musk has said he sees the new Starlink venture as an important new revenue stream for his California-based Space Exploration Technologies, known as SpaceX, whose launch service income he expects to top out at around $3 billion a year.

Heading to Mars

Speaking to reporters last week, Musk said Starlink is pivotal in helping pay for his larger goals of developing a new spacecraft to fly paying customers to the moon and

CULPRIT FOUND

A New York man has been charged with falsifying inspections of critical parts used in rockets built by SpaceX.

James Smalley, an engineer at a New York company called PMI Industries, faces criminal charges that could lead to up to 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

According to the US Department of Justice (DOJ), its investigation found that Smalley had falsified at least 38 inspection reports, and that 76 parts that were rejected or not inspected at all were still sent to SpaceX.

for eventually trying to colonise Mars.

'We think this is a key stepping stone on the way towards establishing a self-sustaining city on Mars and a base on the moon,' said the chief executive officer of Tesla Inc.

At least 12 launches carrying similar payloads are needed to achieve constant internet coverage of most of the world, Musk said. Starlink is only currently authorised for operations in the United States.

Musk said Starlink is pivotal in helping pay for his larger goals of developing a new spacecraft to fly paying customers to the moon

Competition

In February, Airbus SE-backed OneWeb launched its own clutch of satellites, while LeoSat Enterprises and Canada's Telesat are also working to build data networks.

In each network, the tiny satellites orbit closer to Earth than traditional communications satellites, a technological shift made possible by advances in laser technology and computer chips.

Musk said SpaceX would begin approaching customers later this year or next year. As many as 2,000 satellites will be launched per year, with the ultimate objective of placing up to 12,000 into orbit.

PE inflows in real estate sector reach $1.2 billion: Study

◆ Tier II & III cities attract more investments as firms recognise their potential

| NT Bureau |

Chennai, May 24:

Private equity inflows in the Indian real estate retail sector touched $1.2 billion in 2017-18, on the back of liberalisation in FDI policies, said a report.

According to property consultant ANAROCK's 'Private Equity in Indian Real Estate' report, total private equity (PE) inflows in the Indian retail sector between 2015 and 2018 stood at $1.84 billion.

The report said attractive FDI policies has allowed major global PE funds to double their investments in the Indian retail sector, with US and Canada-based PE funds together investing more than $1.13 billion into the retail sector.

PE investors from UAE, Singapore and Netherland together invested close to $800 million in the period. The development comes as experts predict increasing consumerism to rise to $3,600 billion by 2020.

Stating the importance of tier II and III cities, the report said in the last four years, investors infused almost half of their total investments into the retail sector in cities like Amritsar, Ahmedabad, Bhubaneswar, Chandigarh, Indore and Mohali.

US-based funds such as Blackstone and Goldman Sachs invested over $1 billion into the industry between 2015 and 2018 period and of this, more than $700 million went into tier II and III cities.

Large PE funds have recognised the potential of smaller cities which continue to have a shortage of organised retail space despite the rising disposable income and aspiration-driven consumption appetite being generated there, it said.

The government had earlier allowed 51 per cent FDI in multi-brand retail and 100 per cent FDI in single-brand retail under the automatic route, against the previous 49 per cent.

Affordable(!) superbike

Japanese sportsbike maker Kawasaki has launched the MY20 ZX-10R at Rs 13.99 lakh (ex-showroom).

The bike comes to India via the completely knocked down (CKD) route and gets a 998cc inline-four cylinder engine that the bikemaker claims has a new finger-follower valve actuation that reduces mass by 20 per cent. In total, the bike makes 203 PS power and 114.9 torques.

Kawasaki says the ZX-10R is based on the WSBK race machine and comes very close to it in terms of rideability. As standard, there are riding aids such as traction control (S-KTRC), launch control (KLCM), cornering management function (KCMF), ABS (KIBS).
